

November 2017

[Fall Workshop 2017] Wrap-up summary

There's Nothing Fake about the ETUG 2017 Fall Workshop This is cross-posted from the BCcampus site. Post by Clint Lalonde, Manager, Educational Technology and Development On October 27, 2017, 70 educational technologists, librarians, and faculty from across the B.C. post-secondary system gathered at Vancouver Community College for the annual ETUG Fall Workshop. This fall, the organizing committee tackled the topic ...

Read more.

[Festival of Learning 2018] Call for proposals

Contributed by Terri Bateman, North Island College. The BC Festival of Learning (FOL) will bring educators from across the province (and beyond) to Vancouver May 28 to 30, 2018. Building on our first festival held in 2016, we are fostering a spirit of inclusion and we welcome participants and presenters from all areas of education. Your usual ETUG spring conference ...

Read more.

The 12 Apps of Christmas

12 Apps of Christmas

Check out this post about the upcoming 12 Apps of Christmas, courtesy of BCcampus.

And, to stay informed, sign up for their newsletter, visiting their calendar and following @BCcampus on Twitter.

[Institutional Report] Vancouver Community College

Contributed by John Love, Moodle Media Developer. As a member of Vancouver Community College's Centre for Instructional Development (CID), I am one of three people who directly support faculty and staff in online course development in the Moodle LMS. My specific area of specialty is digital media design and creation, and most recently, this has included more and more video ...

Read more.

[Member Profile] Meet Bob Preston of Camosun College

Contributed by Emily Schudel, Camosun College. Tell us a bit about where you work and what you do. I work at eLearning, in the Centre for Excellence in Teaching and Learning (CETL) at Camosun College. I am the glue that keeps this place together. My official job is web analyst for Distributed Education (now called eLearning). I provide D2L ...

Read more.

ETUG site undergoes facelift

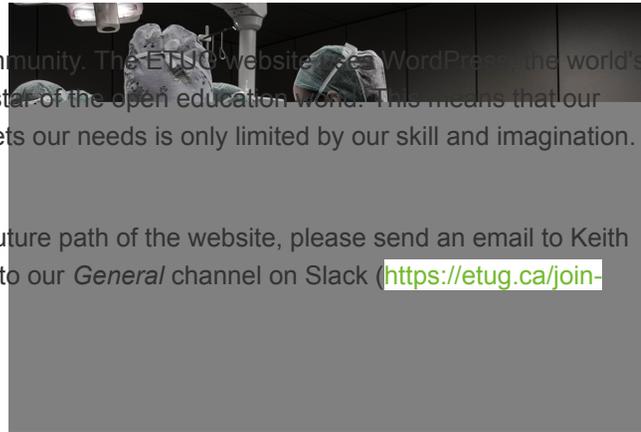

Your favourite portal for news and community in the world of educational technology is getting a facelift. Over the next several months Clint, Jason, Marlana, Keith, and Troy will review the current site, discuss improvements, and produce a version that will better meet the needs of our community. The ETUG website uses WordPress, the world's most popular website platform and rock star of the open education world. This means that our ability to develop a beautiful site that meets our needs is only limited by our skill and imagination. So it's sure to be great!

If you'd like to offer suggestions on the future path of the website, please send an email to Keith (keith.webster@royalroads.ca) or drop into our General channel on Slack (<https://etug.ca/join-etug-on-slack/>).

Photo by Piron Guillaume on Unsplash

Supported By:

